

EUGENE STICKLER
SENECA HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER 1961-

Mr. Sticker arrived at Seneca in the fall of 1961 and immediately began to make an impact on his students. He taught not only Core but speech and drama and soon helped Seneca become known for their theatre and musical productions. He directed the first musical production, "Annie Get Your Gun" in 1961 and carried on this tradition for decades.

He touched many students lives and not just theatre students...athletes, musicians, tech kids and all those working behind the scenes to make the shows happen. He brought everyone together and bonded them together to appreciate all different types of student talent.

Whenever Gene Stickler's name is mentioned, former students light up and relive their musical moments and the lasting influence he had on their lives. The newly renovated Theatre Area is named in his honor.